

BQCIS

NOVEMBER 2025

HEALTH & SAFETY REVIEW

Health & Safety

New directives on occupational safety, chemical management, and process safety.

BQCIS

Shaping Global Trust

New Global Directives on Process Safety & Chemical Management

A new wave of international directives will soon reshape the landscape of health and safety within the industrial sector:

- Updated process safety regulations will mandate more stringent risk analysis and hazard mitigation plans.
- Chemical management initiatives will require robust tracking of substances and enhanced worker protection measures.

BQCIS Health & Safety Review

Occupational Safety in the Digital Era

As AI and data analytics platforms become increasingly integrated into workplace safety programs, industries stand to benefit from real-time monitoring, predictive analytics, and enhanced hazard identification.